DENVER COACH HAS GROWN SORE SPOT

Crowley Tells Los Angeles Newspaper His Team Was III-Treated Here.

GETS INTO HOT WATER

Using Freshmen Under Assumed Names to Be Investigated by Officials.

Nobody in the world of sport is so much distliced as the man who can't lose gracefully. Coach Clem Crowley of Den-ver, therefore, must have been looking for something when he took such an un-warranted slam at the University of Utah in one of the Sunday Los Angeles papers.

sity of Denver met Utah and was defeated, 65 to 0. At that time there seemed to be no ill feeling about the matter and Denver apparently recognized its interiority. Since leaving here Coach Crowley has developed a sore spot and made the knock alluded to above.

In speaking of the Utah game Crowley said there were several things that put Denver at a great disadvantage. In the first place, he said, Utah refused to let Denver use three freshmen players who would have been a great help to the team. In the second place, Cummings field was in such poor condition that it was in such poor condition that it was worth a man's life to go into the game.

With regard to the first point, it is against the rules of the conference to use freshmen in the lineup. However, Crowley used them without even asking Utah about it. He sent them in under assumed names and as a result is in trouble with the officials of the conference. At any rate, if the field had been middy. Denver's excess weight would have swung the advantage in their direction.

In regard to the last mentioned point.

The Turks Chance, who is in Albuquerque today, declared that he has practically decided to retire from base-ball and that Charles W. Murphy, who deposed him as manager of the Chicago National club must pay him $19,900 before he would sign a contract for next season.

"I will insist on receiving $10,000 before he would sign a contract offered by Murphy," said Chance. "I am going to fix things so that Murphy won't make any money on me in any trade he may go into."

Chance declared tonight the Chiss would be in the second division in 1913.

"The Culis next season will be as secfty of Denver met Utah and was de eated, 65 to 0. At that time there seemed would have swung the advantage in their direction.

In regard to the last mentioned point any one who saw the game knows that sheer lack of condition was responsible for the numerous injuries to Denver players.

The Utah football men were back at school yesterday and were given a warm raily at noon. The field was muddy, so that there was no practice for the varisty, but Coach Bennion took the freshies into the gymnasium and put them through a good drill on signals and formations.

While in Colorado Bennion acquainted himself with the methods used this year by the Boulder team. He is now going to teach the freshien a similar line of attack. After the under class men learn the plays they will line up nightly against the varsity, so that there need be nothing new when the east benchers line up against the Colorado team on November 3.

HIGH SCHOOL WARRIORS PREPARE FOR IDAHOANS Tinker Also Fined.

The inclement weather was not suffi-The inclement weather was not suffi-cient to keen Coach Richardson's husky warriors from their daily practice yester-day. Although the campus was flooded beyond possible use, the Indians refused to lay off and, donning heavy sox, they went through a sharp signal practice in the gymnasium.

Goach Richardson realizes the necessity of baving his men in the best possible condition when they buck up against the fast Bolse high school eleven next Saturday. As every moment is of value, the coach has abandoned his original plan of teaching the boys a new attack for the coming contest, and will devote the three days left to perfecting the style they found so effective against the Grand Junction and Ogden teams.

In the game of Saturday the Indians will confine themselves to the formations and passes that bewildered the Colorado near-champs, and if they play in their previous form against the Idahoans it is safe to say they will bring home the bacon.

The boys who will make the trip capacity.

The boys who will make the trip cannot

The boys who will make the trip cannot be definitely announced until the report cards appear Wednesday noon, but from measured indications the fourteen men selected will be those who played in the Orden rame. It is expected that Goodrich will start at guard for Edholm, whose knee is still weak, and that Jensen will not a trip of the still weak and that Jensen will now at Goodrich's end. Edholm will mobably be carried for an emergency out aside from the changes indicated the lineum will not be changes indicated the lineum will not be changed except in case of ineligibility.

The "football" number of Red and Biack, the ligh school's official sheet, will make its appearance Wednesday noon. The issue bids fair to outdo any similar number of past years. It will contain, in addition to an accurate account of all gaves to date, pictures of the Ogden and Grand Junction games, and a number of short storles by students dealing with a variety of topics. The verse, as well as the jokes and cartoons, is said to be exceptionally good.
